Use and non-disclosure agreement: Underwater Sensor Use Agreement

The representative and the Recipient identified in the signed Use and Non Disclosure Agreement shall use, modify, reproduce, release, perform, display, or disclose the Data provided via the AN/AQS-20A data interchange for US government purposes only.

Additionally, as a prerequisite to access the Data, the representative certifies that the Data shall only be used for US government work materially related to underwater sensor applications and that the Recipient intends to pursue US government work materially related to underwater sensor applications.

If the Recipient is not known as a company that can credibly work on underwater sensors for the US government, the government may require additional information to verify that it is appropriate to share the Data with the Recipient.

The government does not intend to provide or authorize access to any technical data marked with limited rights legends or any computer software marked with restricted rights legends pursuant to this Agreement. The Recipient, its representatives or its employs are not authorized to and shall not access, use, modify, reproduce, release, perform, display, or disclose technical data marked with limited rights legends. The Recipient, its representatives or its employs are not authorized to and shall not access, release, perform, display, disclose or use computer software marked with restricted rights legends.

The Recipient shall immediately notify the Government of any inadvertent, unauthorized access of any technical data marked with a limited rights legend, or any computer software marked with a restricted rights legend.
