Specific characteristics of the material or service that limit the availability to a brand name. Describe in detail why only this suggested source can furnish the requirements to the exclusion of other sources.

Haystack is a parts and logistics management system that provides access to information on over 100 million items in the U. S. Federal Supply Catalog with searches across over 70 U. S. Army, Navy, Air Force and commercial related databases, enabling users to find data using a wide range of search criteria across multiple databases, reducing the time spent researching hard-to-find parts while maximizing supply chain effectiveness. This service also provides extensive report capabilities to ensure part information is well-researched and documented. It can identify all aspects of an item and verify technical characteristics, provide procurement history to estimate costs and availability, supply suitable alternatives and replacements for hard-to-find or obsolete parts, and furnish primary and alternate sources of supply. The Federal Logistics Information System (FLIS) database information is updated and incorporated into Haystack Gold on a daily basis. The advanced search engine indexes and cross-references all of the databases in Haystack, allowing quick identification of parts, suppliers and procurement history. The use of another similar type program would be unrealistic as multiple agencies would have to change their current systems.

The requested material or service represents the minimum requirements of the government.
